

Reclaim Wisdom Beginning with Creation

What is the nature and value of humanity?

How is the answer shaped by our view of origins?

Why are our beliefs essential to the answer?

2019 marks the 500th anniversary of da Vinci's death and a half millennium impact of Renaissance thinking. By adopting Protagoras' statement “Man is the measure of all things,” there is a fundamental shift in where one finds knowledge and wisdom. Repercussions of this shift extend back to one's view of creation/origins. Though often viewed as a theological or science discussion, the implications affect all aspects of human endeavor.

Hear the following speakers discuss presuppositions, human identity, evil, theology proper, inerrancy, Adam & Eve, science, bioethics and stewardship in light of a seven day creation.

Dr. James Bjornstad

Dr. Jeremy Blaschke

Paul Garner

Dr. Peter Gentry

Dr. John R. Gilhooly

Dr. Heather Kuruvilla

Dr. W. Gary Phillips

Dr. Kurt Wise

Dr. Todd Wood

Register at reclaimwisdom.com

Join us Saturday July 20th @ Cedarville University

Held on the final day of Origins 2019 – creationbiology.org